

Certain stations (i.e. ESPN in particular) are using a monopoly power to charge outrageous costs to Cable and Satellite providers. They threaten to take away all affiliates if you don't pay for every station. Providers should be able to have the option to offer drastic savings though the freedom of choice.